

The Harvard Medical School
General Medicine Update
for Physicians and NPs
in Specialized Fields of Medicine

Clinicians in specialized fields of medicine ranging from allergy and anesthesiology to obstetrics, psychiatry and radiology rely on this program for updates that ensure they are current with the changes in general medicine impacting their work as specialists

- · Emerging treatment strategies
- Critical drug-drug interactions
- Changes in screening and health prevention
- Expanded diagnostic/cost options
- · Changes in psychopharmacology
- · Updates for immunizations and antibiotics use
- Changes in treatment guidelines for diabetes, heart disease, lipid disorders, hypertension, chronic lung disease, osteoporosis, sleep disorders, cognitive decline, obesity, chronic pain, HIV, and dermatology problems

www.HMSCME.com/GIMS